

About the Artist

Tami Phelps

2017

Tami Phelps is a mixed media artist and fine art photographer who has called Anchorage home since 1970. Her passion for art led her to create work in several mediums, including cold wax, resin, and hand tinted photography, sometimes in combination with each other. Adding vintage metal and other ephemera to her work is of particular interest. She recently completed an Artist in Residency at the McKinley Chalet Resort in Denali National Park, and has been invited to return summer 2017. She is a recipient of a 2017 Alex Combs Artist Award offered by Bunnell Street Arts Center in Homer, Alaska. Tami is co-president of the Alaska Chapter of International Encaustic Artists, AKWax. Her work has exhibited in Alaska, Colorado and Washington, and is included in the permanent collection at Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center.
